"Reporting that's available through an accounting system makes it such a challenge because of the limitations the system has. We are really limited to whatever reports or features are available, and it requires multiple extractions to get all the detailed info out of the system.

Then, not only does the team have to manually connect details to transactions from multiple reports, but they often find missing information, which requires going back to the client for additional reports to be pulled.

WIPFLI

Director

Now Strongbox does it in a single click. It's one-and-done data. It's a much better Marc Courey, experience for everyone involved being able to get everything in one go.

The Strongbox data is also far more comprehensive."
